Friday 4th December 2009

We were pleased and honoured to receive a visit from the Prime Warden of the Fishmongers' Company, Andrew Martin-Smith this week. He was delighted to see the children hard at work, and said that an invitation for parents and staff to visit the Fishmongers Hall next term would be forthcoming. The Fishmongers Company has generously supported the foundation of Faraday School.

"Poetry Please"

The children enjoyed a visit from Mr Derek Daniel who gave the school a lovely book of poetry and read to the children.

He also took some excellent photos of the children and staff at work during the morning. I thought you would like to see them.

Making star fish with Mrs Gammon

Geography Focus – Many of you saw a large three dimensional model which the children constructed showing the river Thames from its 'source' to its 'mouth'. Well known landmarks such as Faraday School and Canary Wharf were incorporated. Our thanks to Mr Payne who led an inspiring two-day focus on the river. If you missed it in the corridor, it has now been moved into the art room (look carefully behind Mrs Gammon in the photo above!)

Students Unite!

Third Year students from University of East London dance course practised their teaching skills on the children of Faraday

School in the wonderful new dance facilities on Trinity Buoy Wharf.

School photographer – I have arranged for the professional photographer on the wharf to take photographs of the children next Tuesday 8th December. Please can you make sure that they are looking very smart in their full school uniform?

Thank you.

Looking Ahead

Please remember that term finishes at 12.00 on Friday 18th December. This will be preceded by the Nativity Play which will start at 11.00. While the children are changing, mulled apple juice and nibbles will be served to parents. There will also be a cake sale to raise money for the French course which the children are using.
